SYNOD OF THE CALGARY DIOCESE

Met June 14-16--Record Number Present--Financial Condition Very Good.

The Synod of the Diocese of Calgary was in session last week, June 14, 15 and 16, the Rev. W. Macmorine and A. C. Beach of Frank being delegates from this district.

The largest number on record was present at the meetings, over 100 delegates being in attendance.

In his usual charge Bishop Pinkham after referring to the King proceeded to enlarge upon the condition of the diocese. He stated that very satisfactory progress was being made, in the number of churches and parsonages built, in the increase in the number of clergy, in the gathering of the people together.

The financial report was most encouraging the Home Mission fund showing a credit balance of about $7,000.

Much time was given to considering the work of the church among the Indians, as it was found that in this respect things were far from satisfactory, a representative committee of clergy and laity was appointed to thoroughly investigate the whole matter, confer with the Federal government and report to the next Synod.

It was decided that no further parish should be raised to the status of a rectory until it should be prepared to pay a stipend of $1,000 per annum.

Sunday school work, and other important matters were fully considered, the synod closing its labors on Thursday June 16th.

The circus has come and gone and Coleman is once more on its usual everyday clothes. Everybody was pleased with Al G. Barnes and Al G. Barnes was pleased with himself.

The firemen under whose auspices, the circus was held, worked like trojans and everything went on like a "home" for the bat.

Seventeen hundred and fifty attended the arena where the "Wild ones" held sway. The side shows proved attractive especially the gipsy tent, where many a panting young heart received soothing messages and almost invariably a "trip to Vancouver."

The out of town visitors all spoke well of the circus, many of them remaining over for Sunday in Coleman. On the whole the circus was a pronounced success and Colemanites look forward to again seeing Al G. Barnes & Co.

CARBONDALE MINES BUSY

Great Development Work--Tunnel in Good Working Order--Tunnels Extended

That the McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Company are making great strides towards the development of a well equipped mine and plant, can be easily seen from the result of an extensive inspection.

President Campbell in company with Byron Sharpe and superintendent Cram made an extensive tour on Wednesday. The tipple which is a steel structure has been fully completed in every detail and is capable of handling 4,000 tons per day. The tram line which has lately been rebuilt owing to the heavy grade, can now permit a full train of cars. It is one and a half miles long and possesses an easy grade.

The output now of the mine is 400 tons and in 6 weeks the tonnage will be 700 tons per day. If the present rate of development goes on it will be only five months before the output is increased to 2,000 tons per day.

Two tunnels have been driven both exposing a splendid seam of coal. The tunnel to the south is now 1,000 ft long and the one running north about 800 feet. The coal raised from the seam in these tunnels, is remarkable for being free from stone, and sells readily in the domestic market. The output at the mine now exceeds the output at the mine.

The President and Mr. Sharpe expressed themselves as well pleased with the developing work and the management of the mine. Both Mr. Campbell and Mr. Sharpe left on Thursday morning for Spokane.

Red and Gun

While each issue of Canada's foremost sportsman's Magazine contains some feature of special interest, the June number of Red and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont., is notable for several of such features, each one of particular interest to all sportsmen. "Three Weeks in the Forests of Quebec," with the successful capture of a moose, will prove enthralling to all big game hunters; while the story of the success of Jack Miner in attracting wild geese in large numbers to a pond near his home cannot fail to hold the attention and secure the interest of all wild bird lovers. The latter story forms a splendid illustration of the success of protection and should encourage all engaged in the work. A full supply of stories appearing to all tastes is included in a number which will prove a fine companion on all vacation trips.

Wedding bells pealed forth in Blairmore on Monday when Miss Marjorie Roseback of Blairmore and S. J. Watson the popular proprietor of the two big drug stores were married.

Calisthenics for Mother and Child

Support the body at the waist line

REGULAR and systematic exercise cannot be instituted too early in the training of little children, and the results will be doubly beneficial if the enjoyment of play can be associated with the daily drill. There will never be any difficulty in securing the child's enthusiastic co-operation, for it is natural for the little one to be active, and when mother joins in the gymnastics the result is foreseen.

I advise these light gymnastics, or calisthenics, to be taken in the early morning hours for about ten minutes each day. The clothing should be comfortable and there should be paid strict attention to the order and work. Do not allow any foolishness to enter into the exercise, and insist upon a concentration of the mind, which is always beneficial in this kind of action.

The first exercise should be taken after the command of "Forward, bend" is given. Over the strong arm of the mother the little child should bend until the hands touch the floor. This is not difficult for the soft, flexible bones of a little one. Have this movement repeated four or five times.

The balancing movement should then be taken. With hands on hips, a backward movement should be taken. Be sure to support the body at the waist line, as this will prevent any straining of the muscles of the child, and will also give the little gymnast a feeling of security.

A leg movement is the next in order. With the knee straight, it must be raised at right angles with the body, then slowly lowered. This should be repeated slowly and carefully, and the other limb given the due exercise in the same way.

The next exercise is especially delightful to a little child. Upon mother's horizontal bar the girl or boy can take a firm grip and be lifted from the ground. The head must be kept well raised, and there must never be any overtaxing of the arm muscles.

Last and very important is the exercise to encourage deep breathing. The arms should be straightened out in front of the body and slowly moved to the sides. As this is done, the baby must take a deep breath. The exhalation naturally follows when the arms are brought together again. It is quite easy to inculcate a habit of deep breathing—one that is sadly neglected by the average woman—and I advise you to emphasize this step in the daily drill.

When the wisdom of mother is added to the earnest work of the child, the calisthenics will give what usually results from well-directed efforts, a pliant and beneficial result. Your little girl or boy is now ready for the daily drill, and in ten minutes each day can certainly be expected to give the little one a systematic training.

The knee should be raised at right angles.

To encourage deep breathing.

WHEN TO INTRODUCE

AN INTRODUCTION is a formal presentation of one person to another in a courteous manner. It is not a collection of words that must be buried at two mortals without a regard for the place of meeting. It is about the time for introductions that I wish to speak today.

Introductions need not be made in public unless there is a decided restraint. Then the two persons should be briefly introduced, merely as a matter of convenience. If a momentary halt be made on the street, the third friend need not be presented; but if there promise to be lengthy conversation, it would be much better to make a formal presentation. At clubs, where a group of people will be thrown together for a little time, it is expedient that the name of each one be mentioned to the others by the person of most authority.

The pleasure of small affairs is greatly enhanced by general introductions. A hostess should call to her old one or two friends who will assist her in presenting guests to each other.

At a formal dinner—the hostess need not introduce every one, but must be sure to present the guests who are to go in together to dinner. Subsequent introductions can be made in the drawing room. The guests should be introduced to every other one some time in the course of the evening.

Never interrupt a conversation to make an introduction. When a guest in departing, it is unnecessary to introduce him to others. At a private dance the guests are introduced by a hostess to the daughter or friend who is helping her to receive, and as the opportunities occur, as many introductions should be made as possible. At large balls it is proper to secure the introduction of the woman before a man is presented.

On a day at home the guests who are near at hand are introduced by the one who receives, but at a large reception the hostess must not leave her place to make introductions. She presents a newly arrived guest to the one beside her.

Keep in mind the comfort of your friends. The best guide is the consideration of other people's feelings. This, added to a clear idea of the customs of well-bred people, will always solve the difficulties that may present themselves.

stop. It may be that he does not realize how rudely he is conducting himself, and your little hint may prove helpful. Of course, if he will not reform his ways and you refuse to dance with him, it will be necessary for you to shun yourself that dance. This is politeness on your hostess, who is supposed to have asked acceptable persons to the dance.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

For some years the prices on our food commodities have been rising steadily higher, until today, America faces a food problem which must be met and solved with grim determination. Many are prone to lay at the doors of the huge trusts, the whole blame. It is quite true that the beef trust, corners in the grain stock exchange, and the high tariff on foodstuffs have all had the tendency to increase the cost of living.

Labor has demanded in the last decade a substantial increase in wages. To meet these demands manufacturers and employers of labor increased the prices on their output. The whole increase eventually coming from the pockets of the consumer. It is doubtful if Labor has gained anything at all through labor disputes, beyond a recognition of their rights and shorter working hours. Food is fast becoming a luxury to many.

It is a well known fact that the Dingley tariff produced many millionaires in Uncle Sam's domains. The manufacturer, without fear of serious opposition, pocketed the profit between the price of foreign goods and the price paid by the consumer. This difference was the duty on foreign goods. When the manufacturer produced the foodstuff or article the government got no duty and when the foreign article was brought in the manufacturer got no profit. The consumer always paid the surtax.

Free trade would alleviate many of the evils of Dingleyism and tariff tinkering. Foodstuffs which can be produced at a minimum in one country should be allowed access to another. Then the price of food would drop and the cost of living lowered. Universal free trade is a far off dream but it is a certain cure.

W. I. Bartlett, editor of the Blairmore Enterprise, expects Mrs. Bartlett and her family this week. The warm Canadian weather will prove hard on Mrs. Bartlett as the climate is much different at Cape Harrison, Labrador. Mrs. Bartlett was formerly Mrs. Lechabod Bartimes Tumliche and has six sons, all of whom are fishermen.

The Memorial service in honor of the memory of the late Dr. Herdman was well attended last Sunday evening in the Institutional Church. Rev. T. M. Murray sketched the missionary life of the zealous superintendent of missions, who just recently passed away at Brandon, Man. Mrs. Watson sang the beautiful hymn "Only remembered by what we do."

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this medicine has been introduced. No other medicine is in use for cholera or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. So do by all dealers.

An inquest was held on Wednesday afternoon at Police Flats over the death of S. Harrie who was killed in the mine there. W. Hamilton represented the company and C. Stubbs the miners.

Lame shoulder is almost invariably caused by rheumatism of the muscles and yields quickly to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. This Liniment is not only prompt and effective, but in no way disagreeable to use. Sold by all dealers.

Fire Fighting With- out Fire Engines

(From Scientific American.)

The practical elimination of the fire engine from the fighting in the business section of lower Manhattan has been brought about by the successful use of the high-pressure independent fire service. Good results have attended also this modern method in Brooklyn, Coney Island and Philadelphia, and in all of these places independent systems of high-pressure mains supplied from central pumping stations now are essential and established elements in much-needed fire protection.

Now if a pressure of water at the hydrant can be maintained as great as that furnished by the pumps of a fire engine, then the latter of course is superfluous; and that, along with adequate water supply, is what is short, the high-pressure system accomplishes. This condition, however, so successfully realized, has been made possible only by modern mechanical and electrical engineering, to which the firemen have added by intelligently studying and applying the new resources at their command. It can be shown that the pumping station has two sets of intakes for its water supply—one for fresh water and the other, which is in connection with a vacuum pump, for salt water. In the case of the New York system, the Broton water is used under all normal conditions, and the mains are kept filled at the ordinary city pressure. The drafts on the city's supply for fire purposes compared with the usual daily consumption are inconsequential; but the river or salt water may be drawn at any time through intakes extending direct to the pier slips, and is available in case of any failure in the fresh-water supply or at a time of a large conflagration. For high-pressure stations either gas or electric motors are available to drive the pumps, as there is always a supply of this kind of power from public service corporations distributed underground, and carefully guarded against such a way as to make any possible failure highly improbable. Thus in the Manhattan pumping stations the high-efficiency centrifugal pumps are driven by induction motors using alternating current from the Edison Electric Company, with direct connection with its Waterside station and duplicate connection with its sub-stations, provision even being made to connect with Brooklyn in case of emergency. A contract between the city and the company requires a constant reservation of power, and the simple operation of switches puts the machinery into full operation. The centrifugal pump has been found most advantageous, particularly with electric motors.

A high-pressure system protects a given district where the mains and hydrants have been installed and in the case of New York this territory extends from Chambers to Twenty-third streets, and lies between the Hudson River and the Bowery and Third Avenue. The pumping stations are located outside of districts likely to be affected by any possible conflagration, and free from danger from neighboring buildings. They are situated at South and Over Streets and at Gansevoort and West streets. The hydrants in this system are of the type shown in the illustration, and are spaced along the mains at an average interval of 270 feet and to reach a building on fire, in no case would there be required a length of hose greater than 150 feet—an important consideration, as the pressure in a line of hose diminishes rapidly.

Let us assume that a fire breaks out in this protected territory, and the alarm is transmitted in the usual way, either from a street box or an automatic fire alarm telegraph to the headquarters. Thence it is sent out over the fire-alarm circuits to the various fire houses in the city, including the two high-pressure stations. At these stations night and day there is always an operator on duty who sits at a telephone switchboard, by which the station can be put in communication not only with the headquarters and with the other station. Special telephones in metal boxes are distributed in close proximity to the hydrants through the high-pressure district, and connect direct to the stations, a special service being maintained by the telephone company. In front of the operator is a large board containing the numbers and locations of the various alarm boxes throughout the district, those to which his own stations respond immediately being designated in red.

What Do You Know About Lethbridge

Do you know her building permits reached $351,500 in the one month of May this year? Do you know that three more lines of railroads are heading for Lethbridge, the commercial centre of an inland empire, vast as to riches of coal and resources—two wonderful assets—either one of which has made a metropolis many a time in the past and has come and to uphold it in the future.

The World is Crying for Productive Soil. The World is Determined to be Comfortable hence the positive assurance for the demand what Lethbridge has.

One year ago Lethbridge had a population of 9,000; today she has about 14,000, the pace is set, will she go back? Certainly not, not as long as the present people live for they will have bread and comfort and Lethbridge has got "the makings." Knowing that you people in the Crow's Nest Pass are great wage earners and that you have no particular opportunities for investment at home, I am going to give you the opportunity of making investments elsewhere without paying the expense and large commission of a travelling solicitor or even a middle man in your own town, which you have been paying heretofore, especially when buying real estate. I am going to cut out the solicitor and middle man so as to give you Lethbridge City property at its present true market value.

Furthermore, I am going to give you positive assurance that I will sell you no lots excepting that they be

HIGH, DRY AND LEVEL

Now should any of you doubt that this statement is an assurance, ask your lawyer if I am not making myself liable and subject to a very heavy fine as well as the returning of your money with costs, if at any time you secure from me a lot that is not high, dry and level which I have advertised in your local paper. But putting this all aside, kindly remember that I mean business. I want your business. I want more business. No business can flourish unless done on the square. Enough said.

I have been in the real estate business in the City of Lethbridge for five years and I am still doing business, so I guess you are safe as to my guarantee with out considering any court's action.

If you feel satisfied as to this you can make your investment without the inspection of the property and thereby save yourself a considerable amount of time and expense in addition to illuminating the solicitor and the middle man.

Now let me tell you something regarding the line of growth in this busy city of ours. First, the business centre of Lethbridge is south of the railroad and lies on the extreme west side of the city and the land just north of the railroad and opposite the business district, is held for railroad yards, etc., out to what is known as the North Ward, which begins directly north of the track about one-half mile east of the postoffice. This North Ward is mainly populated by miners and pay laborers; therefore the better residential portion lies to the south east of the business centre and it must continue to grow in that direction as it is now doing, for it cannot go elsewhere.

The additions which I am mainly offering are each immediately south and east of the present residential section, in fact houses are now being built in one of them. "The Alexander Addition" and the other addition "Victoria Park" is held by the city until September 1st of this year.

The Victoria Park was put up at public auction by the city about ten years ago and no lots sold for less than $300 each and some went as high as $500, this on public bidding, today one cannot be bought for less than $400 to my knowledge. Victoria Park lots were bought by the best people in the city for their home property and it adjoins the Alexander Addition on the east, both of which Additions are in the city limits and within one mile circle. This circle centres at Central school which lies three blocks south and three blocks east of the post office which is situated in the most north western part of the business district.

Lots in the above mentioned Additions are in my opinion the most likely to increase in value or any other Lethbridge property and should be most easily turned over as homes are already building in the Alexander Addition and Victoria Park should begin to build up as soon as the city gives possession on September 1, 1910. I am expecting to see lots in the Alexander Addition sell for $500 or $600 each within a year and Victoria Park lots, I am sure will go at $1,000 each within the same period. Both of these Additions are upon the proposed street car line.
